Marble Marker Presented to City by Society of Colonial Dames in Virginia.

ALEXANDRIA, May 8.-The unveiling of a memorial tablet on which is inscribed the story of the historic events which have taken place around the market place in Alexandria will draw many distinguished guests to this city this afternoon, among them scores of delegates who are attending the twelfth blennial council of the National Society of the Colonial Dames in Washington.
The tablet, which is to be presented by the Society of the Colonial Dames in Virginia, has been erected in the northwest corper of the market building a west corner of the market building, a few feet from the corner of Royal and Cameron streets, near the memorial fountain, which was erected by the same organization two years ago. is of marble, four by eight feet. On it is engraved the history of the market square, among the facts given prominence being the incorporation of the city, in 1749, the laying of the first cornerstone in the District of Colum-bia, in 1791, its capitulation to the British, in 1814, and its retrocession to Virginia in 1846. A resume of the hap-penings at the Carlyle House, on Fair-fax street, and the old city tavern, at Royal and Cameron streets, is given. The exercises this afternoon will com at 4:30 o'clock. Miss Rose Mac-Donald, chairman of the Alexandria committee, will preside, and introduce Mrs. William Ruffi Cox, of Richmond, Va., president of the National Society of the Colonial Dames and also of the branch in Virginia, who will present the tablet to the city. The Rev. P. P. Phillips will say the Lord's Prayer. The tablet will be unveiled by Dorothy Ashby Morton and Armstead Boothe. Mayor Thomas A. Fisher will accept the tablet on behalf of the city. The orator of the day will be 'col. Robott E. Lee, of Ravensworth. Music will be fur ished by the Fifth Cavalry Band, of Pt. Myer.

Workers Hopelessly Disagree on Methods and in Their Reports of Results-Some Denounce Plan Visionary, Others Say Vice in Capital Has Increased.

Hopelessly split over the methods employed and in their reports as to results accomplished, the citizens' committee, organized to help former inmates of the segregated district, is about to disband.

Organized more than three months ago, what has been accomplished? What have been the causes of dissension that divided the committee so that it finds it impossible to continue its work on a common basis? What have the various factions to say for their particular efforts?

Members of the executive committee, of the case committee, and of the volunteer workers in the big committee, have been interviewed and the point of view of each is presented in this article.

FACTS ON PRESENT STATUS.

Only One Girl Sought Refuge. "That house was kept about ten days and about $160 rent was paid for it out of our meager funds," Mr. Finch said. "During that entire time but one girl from the division entered it, and she sought refuge for one night only. "But the volunteer workers swarmed about the premises. Mentifying men seen going into nearby houses, and taking numbers of automobiles seen in the neighborhood." Mr. Finch said he came to Washing-upon the solicitation of Clarence son, United States District Attorwilson. United States District Attorney, and came at a great personal sacrifice since he had just completed a strenuous period of work in a Western city, and had just arrived in Baltimore when called here.

He was told by President Wilson, he said, to go ahead with his plan for providing employment for those women who showed a desire to reform, and on that basis he obtained promises of contact the impulse did not last long.

Blames Emotional Women.

"Our greatest handicap in the organized work came from the emotional ladies who insisted on dealing with cases personally and treating them as a deep secret. Often three or four of these well-intentioned ladies were working, unthat basis he obtained promises of contributions, some as high as $500.
